MEMORANDUM OF TELEPHONE CONVERSATION

SUBJECT: Telcon with Chancellor Kohl of Germany (U)

PARTICIPANTS: The President
Helmut Kohl, Chancellor
Notetaker: Robert Hutchings, NSC Staff
Interpreter: Harry Obst

DATE, TIME April 16, 1991, 8:42 - 8:59 a.m.
AND PLACE: The Oval Office

The President: Helmut! How are you? (U)

Chancellor Kohl: Good, George. How are you? (U)

The President: Good. What's up? (U)

Chancellor Kohl: The economy is moving fairly well in the old Laender, but there are problems in the new Laender to the east. This is a transitional phase we have to overcome in the next few years. (U)

The reason I am calling is the Kurdish question. I wanted to discuss it with you. It has created a lot of emotion, not only here but also in the U.S. The images on television are terrible. We would like to do everything we can to lend these people support and humanitarian aid. We decided today, in consultation with your people, how we want to bring about distribution, especially to those in Iran. We will build up an airlift in the area and also establish an airlink of helicopters from the airfield to the camps. We have earmarked DM 250 million for this purpose. Obviously, it is not the solution for the long term. We now have to assure that these people may return in safety to their homes without repression by this criminal regime. (U)

The President: Exactly. (U)

Chancellor Kohl: I wonder if we might launch a joint initiative to help them find homes. (U)

The President: We agree, Helmut. We want them to go home. The French have a proposal for monitors to be located in their home towns to report on conditions there. We have launched a major refugee effort along the Turkish border. I am delighted to know about your initiative on the Iranian border. So far, it seems that Saddam Hussein won't interfere, but we are not sure. I think we must stay in very close touch to facilitate the return of these people to their cities. We are trying to do all we can. We have delivered an enormous amount of food and supplies and are trying to get the refugees to move from the mountains down to the flat areas of Turkey and Iraq. I have made it quite clear that we don't want to involve our troops in a civil war. However, if he interferes north of the 36th parallel, all bets are off and we will be forced to take action. What is your view? (Ø)

Chancellor Kohl: George, you know we are very close. Let me be frank. I am concerned that the prestige of the U.S., which you so courageously won, and the prestige that the President of the U.S. won, not be prejudiced by what is happening right now. This is why we should think about a new kind of leadership, beyond humanitarian relief, because what is happening is exactly what Saddam Hussein wants -- the Kurds leaving his country. So perhaps we should think of how to further expand the French program. (Ø)

The President: We are like-minded on that. I would like to do it. I agree that we don't want the U.S. tarnished by failing to do anything, but I would be very wary of committing U.S. ground troops for military operations. This civil war has been going on for decades. We could expand the French proposal, as you say, but I would be very reluctant to commit U.S. forces. (Ø)

Chancellor Kohl: Exactly. I completely agree. I would never give you that kind of advice. But couldn't we think about a short-term way in order to expand the French initiative and supplement it by instituting an international monitoring body? (Ø)

The President: We would be all for it. The question is, can you get the Soviet Union and China to go along in the UN Security Council? (Ø)

Chancellor Kohl: That is true, but it wouldn't be necessary to gain support. It would be enough if they would abstain. (Ø)

The President: True, but I read a Reuter dispatch today that China was opposing setting up a safety zone because it would be a violation of Iraqi sovereignty. Getting UN support could be quite difficult now, because we are up against a very sacrosanct principle as far as China, and I think the Soviet Union, goes. We will be working this, and you will, too. I would like to stay in touch, because we must find a way to get these people back into their cities. (Ø)

Chancellor Kohl: I will try, George, to get in touch with Gorbachev once he is back from Japan. (Ø)

The President: Very good. That would be very useful. I would be very interested to know what happens. (Ø)

SECRET

~~SECRET~~³

Chancellor Kohl: I do think if we can achieve a situation where the Soviets go along, it will be difficult for China to veto.
(S)

The President: Exactly, exactly. It is worth a real effort. I will send you a personal cable today, telling you what has been done to help the refugees. I don't think public opinion in Germany or the U.S. knows how much has already been done. (S)

Chancellor Kohl: I would be most grateful. I would suggest the following: I will wait for your cable, then I will try to get in touch with Mikhail Gorbachev and then get back to you. (S)

The President: Okay. In the cable I will also include some new ideas regarding enclaves or safe havens for refugees in Iraq.
(S)

Chancellor Kohl: Okay, very good. (U)

The President: Thanks. It is a terrible thing, but I am delighted to know what Germany is doing. It is wonderful. (U)

Chancellor Kohl: Let me say I am always willing and ready to try to mobilize the EC, because this is a very terrible, sad situation. (S)

The President: Yes. Thanks for your call. (U)

Your Majesty:

I was delighted to receive your recent letter letting me know of your plans for a visit to the United States in October.

Barbara and I very much look forward to seeing you and the Queen. Since you mention the possibility of arriving a day or two before October 6, I would like tentatively to propose lunch at Camp David on Sunday, October 6. If that turns out not to be convenient for you and the Queen, Brent Scowcroft and his staff would be happy to explore other possibilities with Ambassador Ojeda.

Sincerely,

Dear John,

I know you are already aware of Spanish King Juan Carlos' request to meet with the President in October. Spain has been a valued ally throughout the Gulf crisis. Because our bilateral relations are so solid and there is much to be gained, it will come as no surprise to you that I wholeheartedly endorse the idea. I hope that a visit can be arranged. Please let me know if I can contribute anything in that regard.

I look forward to getting together with you when the occasion permits. Carole joins me in extending fond best wishes to you and your family.

My dear President and Friend.

I would like to inform you that next October the Queen and I shall be visiting the United States on the occasion of the opening of two exhibitions.

We intend to fly to New York on Sunday 6th and open the first exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum in the morning of the 7th. The same day we shall attend an award giving dinner in New York and will fly to Washington on tuesday 8th.

In the afternoon of that day we shall have the second opening at the National Gallery.

We plan to remain in Washington on the 9th to attend a dinner given by the organizers of the exhibition in the evening of that day and fly back to Madrid on the 10th.

The Queen and I would very much like to meet Mrs. Bush and yourself during our stay in Washington, whenever it suits your best, and so resume the very pleasant conversation we had in Tokio and bring up to date our personal acquaintance, and to that end we could start our trip on Friday 4th instead of Sunday 6th if necessary.

I would very much like if you could tell me wether this is possible, so that I can start preparations for our programme.

The Queen joins me in sending our warm regards to Mrs. Bush and I remain.

Yours affectionately.

Dear Lorraine:

I understand that you are being honored at a special event this weekend for your twenty-three years of service, side by side with Deputy Prime Minister Mazankowski, to Alberta and to Canada.

I well remember seeing evidence of your dedication during my visit to Western Canada when I was Vice President -- as well as enjoying your wonderful hospitality.

Barbara and I want to join Maz and the others who are honoring you on this occasion with our own words of high praise.

Well done!

Sincerely,

Dear Brent,

I was calling today to request a special favour on behalf of our Deputy Prime Minister, Don (Maz) Mazankowski. Mr. Mazankowski's electoral constituency is honouring his wife Lorraine at a special event this weekend in Vegreville, Alberta.

In essence the constituency will be recognizing Lorraine's dedication, commitment and contribution to Maz which bolstered him through 23 years of service in the Canadian Parliament and government.

The Mazankowskis hosted the President on a visit to Canada's west coast when Mr. Bush was Vice-President and, as you may recall, Mr. Mazankowski met the President in the Oval Office in 1989.

My question is whether it would be possible to get a personal message from the President for the event honouring Lorraine Mazankowski. If this were possible I would be pleased to transmit it to the right channel in Vegreville.

I would appreciate any assistance you might give.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Governor:

I am writing you to ask your assistance in obtaining a courtesy call meeting with the President for His Beatitude JOHN PETER XVIII KASPARIAN CATHOLICOS PATRIARCH of all Armenian Catholics in the World.

I have enclosed a bc of a letter I wrote to the President to this effect. I would be grateful if your office followed and secured that meeting.

I have been delegated by the Armenian Republican party and the Patriarch to arrange His Beatitude's first historic visit to the United States. Governor, your assistance is much needed to make the visist successful.

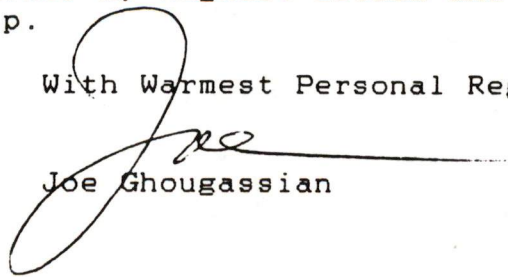

Also, if I may ask, His Beatitude, would like very much to call on you. As you know he is coming from the war-torn nation of Lebanon, and He has a lot on his mind to share.

His Beatitude will be in Washington, D.C. during the period of May 8 to 14, 1991. To keep his entourage to a strict minimum during His White House visit, I have asked that no more than 4 other persons accompany His Beatitude.

On a personal not, my visit to the Gulf during the war provided me unique and privileged experience which I shared nightly on TV.

Please accept Governor my highest esteem and sincerest feelings of friendship.

With Warmest Personal Regards,

Dear Mr. President:

His Beatitude JOHN PETER XVIII KASPARIAN CATHOLICOS PATRIARCH of all Armenian Catholics in the World, will come on his first official visit to the United States, since his enthronement as Patriarch in 1979.

The Seat of His Beatitude is in Beirut, LEBANON. He plans to visit Washington D.C. from May 8 to 14, 1991.

Mr. President, the Catholic Armenian Community of the United States, and the Armenian Republican of this Congregation, request with appreciation that a meeting be scheduled during which time His Beatitude will pay a courtesy call on You, to mark his first historic visit to our nation.

TRANSLATION OF LETTER FROM LANXADE TO THE PRESIDENT
April 9, 1991

Paris, 9 April 1991

Mr. President,

I was very, very touched by the letter you sent me on the occasion of my upcoming nomination as Chief of Staff of the French Armed Services, and I thank you profoundly.

The war which has just ended brought together once again American forces and French forces, in the purest tradition of our common history. Our common success has reinforced -- if reinforcement was necessary -- the friendship and esteem that exists between our respective armed services.

I know that one of the principal responsibilities that I will have upon assuming my new functions will be to assure that, as you and the President of the Republic decided at Martinique, the emergence of a European defense entity does not weaken Atlantic cooperation and the effectiveness of European security but rather reinforces it.

Please be assured that I will pursue this objective by carefully maintaining the closest possible contact with General Powell and Brent Scowcroft.

Please accept, Mr. President, the expression of my very high esteem.

L'AMIRAL JACQUES LANXADE

PARIS, le 9 avril 1991

Monsieur le Président,

J'ai été tout spécialement sensible à la lettre que vous m'avez adressée à l'occasion de ma prochaine nomination comme Chef d'Etat-Major des Armées françaises et je vous en remercie vivement.

La guerre qui vient de s'achever a réuni une fois encore des forces américaines et des forces françaises, dans la pure tradition de notre histoire commune. Le succès obtenu ensemble a renforcé, s'il en était besoin, l'amitié et l'estime entre nos deux Armées.

Je sais que l'une des tâches principales que j'aurai à assumer dans mes nouvelles fonctions sera de faire en sorte, comme vous en avez décidé avec le Président de la République à la Martinique, que l'émergence d'une entité européenne de défense n'affaiblisse pas mais au contraire renforce la coopération atlantique et l'efficacité de la sécurité en Europe.

Soyez assuré que je poursuivrai cet objectif en prenant le soin de maintenir la plus étroite liaison avec le Général POWELL et Brent SCOWCROFT.

Je vous prie, Monsieur le Président, de bien vouloir agréer l'expression de ma très haute considération

Monsieur George. BUSH

MEMORANDUM FOR WILLIAM F. SITTMANN

FROM:

ROBERT L. HUTCHINGS RLH

SUBJECT:

White House Dinner for Queen Elizabeth II

At Tab I is the State Department's proposed invitation list for the May 14 State Dinner in honor of Queen Elizabeth II. We concur, with the exception that Congressman Fascell should be added to what is otherwise a scrupulously bipartisan list of key Congressional leaders. With the Republican on HFAC on the list, Fascell's absence from it might appear a calculated snub.

State has listed three Assistant Secretaries, but this seems acceptable in that two would be unaccompanied. You should note that there are four former U.S. Ambassadors to the UK, which may be more than the market can bear. Finally, I don't know whether Mr. and Mrs. Gates have attended a very recent State Dinner. If not, this might be one to which they should be invited.

I recommend that you seek the General's comments on the list prior to the April 19 meeting with the Social Office.
